

If You Lost A Loved One, You Are Not Alone.

Grieving is a healthy and normal response to any loss. Though a difficult process, grieving is a form of healing, as well as a means through which you can build a bridge between your past and future.

It is important to find support that can give you the strength to live a healthy and full life while you work through your grief. UH's Hope & Healing Program can help you through the grieving process, guiding you through the pain of your loss to a place where you can find peace of mind. We are a community of caring people that warmly welcomes you into our home to share, to feel and to find hope and healing.

At UH's Provident Bank Hope and Healing Center

UH offers many different programs and services to meet your personal needs

Because we're all unique and everyone grieves differently, the UH Hope & Healing Program offers several choices to help you.

- Individual Support Sessions are offered with a specially-trained bereavement counselor who will work with you in a quiet, secure environment taking the greatest measures to always respect your privacy and your needs.
- Bereavement Support Groups: Sessions are offered for family members and friends who share a similar loss. We coordinate separate groups for those who have lost a spouse and those who have lost a parent or sibling.
- The Healing Hearts Program offers support for families with children, ages 4-18, which have lost a loved one. Healing Hearts brings children and parents (or guardians) together for group activities, and then breaks families into groups for age appropriate support. Bereavement support for children provides special activities including art, play and music therapies. Parents (or guardians) receive the support they need as well as practical guidance to address the needs of their children.
- Crisis Intervention/Customized Bereavement Program: Our crisis intervention team will work with your school, business, congregation or community organization to develop a customized plan to meet your needs.

UH's Hope & Healing Program is uniquely qualified to help you through this difficult time.

United Hospice, Inc. (UH) specializes in bereavement support. Our Hope & Healing Program is one of the only places where you will find specially trained counselors, social workers and volunteers who have a unique expertise in all aspects of bereavement.

Our bereavement support team has a profound understanding of what it is like for a family, family a group of friends, or a loved one, to endure loss. The UH Provident Bank Hope & Healing Center provides support to all those who share in that grief.
